Hello George,

Thank you for yours and Dan's time to meet, and for forwarding the Vermonica information. As we discussed, we seek to prepare a CALTRANS ATP Cycle 4 application for the the Lockwood Elementary SRTS Plan. To meet the application deadline, we will need to finalize the full suite of treatments to be included in the SRTS plan by end of Jan/early Feb which will then inform the final cost estimates which will need to be completed by end of Feb.

Perhaps the team can connect by conference call in the latter part of next week. I am in mandatory training Wed and Thurs next week. Best day for me would be Friday, or Mon / Wed afternoon of the following week. It would be helpful to understand the status of outreach (if applicable), design, funding and implementation of the lights project. I would also be happy to host a meeting at LADOT if that would be convenient.

Kind thanks,
Margot

CORNER PLAZA

There is an opportunity for a unique public space at the southwest corner of Virgil Avenue and Santa Monica Boulevard and another at the northeast corner. Eliminating the existing "slip lanes" located between the curb and islands will improve traffic safety by eliminating uncontrolled merging and, at the same time, provide two large public spaces. The southwest plaza is located adjacent to the Bureau of Street Lighting yard where street lighting poles, luminaires and other equipment are stored. This facility is a distinctive part of East Hollywood and Virgil Village's history.

The southwest public space can build upon that identity, taking advantage of the need to the relocate the Vermonica art installation currently located in the parking lot of the shopping center at the corner of Vermont Avenue and Santa Monica Boulevard. In the words of Shelia Klein, Vermonica is "An artist initiated sculpture located in the parking lot of a mini-mall. It is a drive-in museum of street lighting. Completed with help and cooperation from diverse City of Los Angeles Bureaus and Departments, businesses, the neighborhood, and lots of friends. It functions within and without the realm of art, offering light, history, visual interest, and formal composition to anyone who ventures upon it. "Vermonica" is named for the intersection where it is located, Vermont and Santa Monica Boulevard. It might have to be renamed "Virmonica" at its new location where it would showcase distinctive City of Los Angeles street lights with a larger public space. That total available space for the southwest plaza is approximately 8,000 square feet (almost the size of two residential lots). The total available space for the northeast plaza is between 4,000 and 5,000 square feet. Both are large enough to create a significant gateway and inviting, usable public spaces.

Dear Christine & Danielle,

Sheila, who is cc'd, is hoping to see in writing a commitment from CD 13 & DCA outlining how things will proceed for the Vermonica project, based on what was discussed at the December 6 meeting. She is eager to figure out the timetable on the project and dates for her visit in the Spring, so she can get the rest of her life organized around these milestones.

Can you please let us know the status?

I trust that you both got some well deserved rest over the Holidays.

Looking forward to the project!

My Best,

Richard

Hello all,

And Happy New Year! We (City Staff) will be doing an all departments site visit in the coming weeks to get a handle on what the scope of the infrastructure improvements will require in resources. Once we have that under our belts, we'll be able to prepare an initial timeline, and circle back. Let's plan on connecting end of Feb,?

Thank you all, looking forward to working on this together,

Hi Tony:

So you have the sequence of correspondence...

If you could let me know where this stands that'd be great. I heard that the initial meeting on this went well so surprised by the City Attorney's response. Does this mean that Vermonica is not considered a work of art by the city?

Thank you,
Carolina

Here is the letter that an associate of Klein's sent to the city on Jan. 30:

> Hello Everyone,
>
> I'm going to be helping Sheila on this issue. I'm an attorney who works in moral rights and preservation issues sometimes. I'm also President of the Mural Conservancy of Los Angeles. Please don't let either of these things intimidate you. It's not my goal to start some legal process. I'm helping Sheila as someone who knows this area of law and has dealt with many artists over the years, as well as the City in these issues. Hopefully I will be able to help get this done. You can continue to communicate with Sheila, but I would like to be included on those communications.
>
> This is certainly an interesting situation. Very basically, Sheila should have been consulted before her piece was moved, and it shouldn't bear her name in its present state/ location. To resolve the issues, we would like the following conditions to be met:
> 1. Sheila would be made a consultant in re-siting the "Vermonica" installation. She would help configure the space and installation in its new location. If it is done to her specifications, her name can again be used on the piece.
> 2. She continues to be called and interviewed about this situation. The piece was moved and re-configured without her approval, so it really does not reflect her intent at this point. Therefore, a sign should be installed immediately explaining what is going on with the piece.
> 3. Ultimately, we would like some sort of educational component around this situation to help prevent these issues in the future.

4. We understand that the City wants "Vermonica" as part of its collection. That is fine, but we would agree to that only after it has been reconfigured appropriately, and we would like the (hopefully nominal) legal fees associated with that to be covered.

We would like all of this agreed to before Sheila expends the funds for travels to Los Angeles. Then when she comes to town, we can put any paperwork behind us, and she can get on the path toward fixing the situation.

Thanks,

Here is the City Attorney's response on Feb. 22:

From: Kimberly Miera [mailto:kimberly.miera@lacity.org]
Sent: Thursday, February 22, 2018 2:16 PM
To: Eric Bjorgum <eric.bjorgum@kb-ip.com>
Cc: Danielle Brazell <danielle.brazell@lacity.org>
Subject: Vermonica

Mr. Bjorgum:

My name is Kimberly Miera, and I advise the Department of Cultural Affairs on behalf of the Los Angeles City Attorney's Office. Ms. Brazell shared your January 30, 2018 e-mail with me regarding the Vermonica installation. As you may be aware, the project was a temporary installation on private property using street light poles owned by the City. To assist with the temporary installation, the Department of Cultural Affairs awarded the artist a small grant to cover installation costs. There was no underlying agreement with the City. Moreover, the installation on private property was always envisioned as a temporary installation, and the street light poles, which are owned by the City, were removed at the request of the private property owner on November 17, 2017.

We believe VARA does not apply to the arrangement of the street light poles for many reasons, one of which being that they served a utilitarian function by lighting the private parking lot. Therefore, Ms. Klein was not entitled to notice under VARA that the City's street light poles were to be removed. The poles were never given to Ms. Klein and remain City property. Accordingly, the City determines what becomes of the poles. As you are aware, the City did re-install its street light poles in a different location on the same day, November 17, 2017. As the poles are in a similar, but slightly different configuration as Vermonica since the current space is smaller, there is no nameplate attributing the reconfigured poles to Ms. Klein.

The Department of Cultural Affairs is willing to consider hiring Ms. Klein as a consultant in the future to consult on perhaps a similar installation, but as of now, the City will not be posting any sign at the location explaining what is happening with the street light poles, and the City will not agree to cover any attorney's fees associated in any way with any aspect of this situation.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Miera

This approach is off-putting. CP can speak on rules/laws as it goes for artists work, even if it was for a temp basis. The "asks" seem unnecessary and leads the City to acknowledge an error or oversight—which was not notifying the artist. Looks like CA's office does not want to go there. Mediation?

Our office is working with DCA and BOE/BSS for a long term plan to relocate Ver Monica to Vir Monica. Based on a Virgil Streetscape plan MOF worked on while on staff. This will be a multi year plan so meanwhile the lights will be located at the BSL yard. The artist requested acknowledgement be posted it was temp and not her arrangement. Her retaining an attorney punted it from a congenial conversation to lawyer to lawyer.

DCA prepared these notes for Danielle...she connected with the reporter this afternoon.

Suggested Talking Points:

- The City Attorney determined that VARA protection is not applicable in this instance since the light poles themselves do not constitute the artwork.
- The artwork consisted of the artist's intent, plus the light poles, plus the location.
- The light poles are materials in this case.
- The Department's position has not changed; we want to make the work whole again.
- We want to support Sheila to create a new installation at another site that can be accepted into the City Art Collection.
- We also want to ensure that a process is followed with MOUs in place with the proper agencies in order to protect the artwork.
- DCA, the Bureau of Street Lighting, and the Office of Councilmember Mitch O'Farrell are still hoping to work in partnership with the artist to move forward.

Good afternoon,

The Hoover Street District Yard project is finalizing design. In response to your and community input, this project has undergone some design changes since originally presented to your offices about one year ago.

A second presentation to the East Hollywood NC is tentatively scheduled for Monday, May 20. A draft of the slide presentation (including image renderings) is attached.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Hello Everyone,

I'm going to be helping Sheila on this issue. I'm an attorney who works in moral rights and preservation issues sometimes. I'm also President of the Mural Conservancy of Los Angeles. Please don't let either of these things intimidate you. It's not my goal to start some legal process. I'm helping Sheila as someone who knows this area of law and has dealt with many artists over the years, as well as the City in these issues. Hopefully I will be able to help get this done. You can continue to communicate with Sheila, but I would like to be included on those communications.

This is certainly an interesting situation. Very basically, Sheila should have been consulted before her piece was moved, and it shouldn't bear her name in its present state/ location. To resolve the issues, we would like the following conditions to be met:

1. Sheila would be made a consultant in re-siting the "Vermonica" installation. She would help configure the space and installation in its new location. If it is done to her specifications, her name can again be used on the piece.

2. She continues to be called and interviewed about this situation. The piece was moved and re-configured without her approval, so it really does not reflect her intent at this point. Therefore, a sign should be installed immediately explaining what is going on with the piece.

3. Ultimately, we would like some sort of educational component around this situation to help prevent these issues in the future.

4. We understand that the City wants "Vermonica" as part of its collection. That is fine, but we would agree to that only after it has been reconfigured appropriately, and we would like the (hopefully nominal) legal fees associated with that to be covered.

We would like all of this agreed to before Sheila expends the funds for travels to Los Angeles. Then when she comes to town, we can put any paperwork behind us, and she can get on the path toward fixing the situation.

Thanks,

Eric Bjorgum

Danielle,

I assume we should have City Attorney for DCA reply to this?

We did our site visit Monday and DOT is going to proceed with the ATP application (SR2S) for the hardscape/infrastructure improvements which will remove the turn lane and create the plaza, if awarded, we'd be looking at 2020-21,

So in the meanwhile, I'd say yest to an informational signage that the BSL location is temporary and not reflective of the Artists intent?

Once we see the final plans for the ATP application, we could share with Shiela. If she is engaging an attorney, we should likely defer to ours as well.

Let me know thoughts.
